Student Centre Completion in Sight

To those of you who are returning to the campus after holidays or summer vacation, welcome back. You may have already noticed the changes on the King Street side of the main building that signal that renovations have begun on the first floor.

The big wooden hoarding on King Street is the location of the new main entrance to the campus. Behind it, a broad, bright four door entrance is being created that will provide a more welcoming path to George Brown College's busiest building. The construction firm of VanBots Construction Corporation, which is construction manager for the $2.5 million project, started work in late July.

Now that we're dealing with concrete and brick as opposed to proposals and plans, here's the final list of what we're setting out to accomplish this fall:

Lobby

Once through the new main entrance, people will find themselves in a large lobby, flooded with natural light during the day. If they go up a few stairs or a wheelchair ramp at their right and through a set of doors, they'll be in the existing lobby with the registration centre. If they turn to the left they'll find a cluster of student services. The lobby will also be the new home of the information booth and will probably serve as an attractive lounge space. The lobby will also provide easy access to the central elevators at the basement level and the student cafeteria with a short set of stairs and a wheelchair ramp at its north end.

Student Services Cluster

The new lobby will put student services in high profile. It will provide one-stop shopping for counselling, employment services, housing information, as well as student life, recreation and athletics. Until the new space is ready, the student services will be housed in room 285C. The Financial Assistance Office will remain in its current location in room 201 B and the Student Affairs Office and Alumni office will remain in their current locations at rear the Registration Centre.

Auditorium

Initial plans for the renovation called for a new auditorium (to replace Room 128) to be built opening off the new main hallway. However, construction estimates based on our plans showed that it was too expensive to build as part of this project. In addition, structural steel could not be obtained fast enough to complete the auditorium before it would have been needed. Accordingly, this part of the renovation has been postponed pending new funding.

Room 128 will remain in use for the foreseeable future. Room 128 is a vital facility for many academic divisions and is in virtually constant use. The change in plans has meant reconfiguring space in the student centre, and eliminating a staircase leading from the north end of the lobby to the central elevators on the first floor. The current design has provisions for the auditorium to be built in the future with little disruption of the rest of the campus.

Student Centre

George Brown's first real student centre, to be located in the northwest quadrant of the building will include a large open lounge area with a food service area, pool tables, a stage and a dance floor. In addition there will be office space for student clubs, a meeting room, a new space for the SAC Shack, and a room for the radio station. Instead of occupying space at the south end of the student centre, Student Association offices will be located in space currently used as the campus bookstore.

Bookstore

The St. James Bookstore will be moving from its current location on the Adelaide Street East side of the building in October to new leased store front space across from the campus on the south side of King Street. To make best use of this prime location, the range of goods offered will be increased to appeal to businesses and residents in the neighbourhood. With increased sales, net revenue from the bookstore is expected to cover the lease and increased operational costs and, after the first year, return an increased amount of revenue to the college.

Patio Rerooting and Resurfacing

Included in the renovation project is reroofing, sealing and surfacing the second floor patio. Over the years, water leaking from the patio roof has found its way into several classrooms below. Not only will reroofing and resurfacing solve this problem but will also create a more attractive outdoor environment for students and staff at our downtown campus.

Timelines

While some fine-tuning of the plans is still being done, and most tenders for the work have been let, these are the timelines for the renovation project that we have established.

Time Event

Late July - Construction starts by Van Bots
Sept. 5 - Required work on Printing Technology archives completed.

Mid-October - Bookstore moves to new storefront location

Late November - All parts of the project are substantially complete

Closures and Service Interruptions

Because most of the renovation work is located in one large area, separated by hoarding from the rest of the campus, we expect few closures and service interruptions. We do not expect to have to shut down the building's cooling/heating/ventilation system and we don't expect construction noise, dust or odours to be a problem. However, staff and students may experience some minor inconveniences during the course of construction. The second floor patio will be closed or partially closed for some weeks this fall for resurfacing, and the George Street entrance and hallway leading to the entrance could be closed at times while work is underway.

Thank you for your understanding and co-operation during this phase of campus renewal. Renovation updates will be provided in the future to keep you informed about changes in the project.

Student Association

You've made an excellent choice by picking up a copy of The Dialog. This is one of the many services that the Student Association (SA) provides to you, our consumers. The Student Association also operates a retail store (soon to be two once the Student Center is up and running), a pub, a radio station that broadcasts to all campuses, and publishes a Year Book at the end of the academic year.

Within the SA offices at St. James (currently located in room -113 beside the cafeteria, to be moved to the new Student Center), you can find your Campus Vice President, Babak Ardoush, and our wonderfully talented and energetic Student Leaders. The SA President's permanent office is also located here. The office houses services such as a fax machine, photocopy machine, photo id, and student health insurance reimbursement forms. All full-time fee-paying students have access to the Student Accident and Sickness Plan available through the SA; the most attractive and widely used feature of this plan is an 80% reimbursement rate for most prescription medication. To apply for reimbursement, go to the SA office and pick up the necessary reimbursement form.

There are also SA offices located at Casa Loma Campus (Vice President to be announced), Hospitality Campus (Vice President - Kirk Hickling), and Nightingale Campus (Vice President to be elected). These offices are open to service your needs, so on your campus tours, make sure you ask for directions to the nearest SA office!

In September, the SA will be holding elections to fill the remaining Student Leader positions at all four campuses. Becoming a Student Leader is an excellent way to network, and to positively contribute to student life here at George Brown College (Psssst... it also does wonders for a resume!). Watch the SA bulletin boards for information on the up-coming elections.

The newly incorporated SA exists for you. If you have questions about anything and don't know where to go for answers, visit your SA office. If we don't have the answer for you, we'll help you find it. Good luck in your studies, and don't forget to have fun!

Kirk Hickling
V.P.
Hospitality
Campus

Hello my name is Kirk Hickling, and I am the Vice president of the Student Association Hospitality division. I would like to welcome all students, especially Hospitality Students, to another great year at George Brown College.

Let me tell you a little about myself. I attended Bishop's University for three years in business, studying accounting, and then saw the error of my ways and decided to change tracks and become a chef (my real passion). I enrolled in George Brown in 1993 in the Culinary Management program. Over the next two years I harassed and fought my way through all my classes to graduate with an above average G.P.A. I learned a lot of things about how the system works, and how to get things done. When I decided to come back for another year in the food service Supervisor program, I felt I should give something back to the school, as well as fix some problems I had seen and encountered in the school. I decided to join the Student Association to act on this desire to contribute and to make our school better for future students.

You might be asking "well what is the Student Association or SA, and what can it do for me?" For myself the SA is the students collective voice to the administration; it is events and activities for the students; it is services that the school can't or won't provide; it is the student want and needs. The SA consists of students, like myself, volunteering their time and energy to help make a better social and academic life for you at George Brown College. If you have any problems, or you want to see something, or if you just want to get involved, come see any Student Leader at your Campus SA office.

The SA office at Hospitality is located in room 254. Along with the Junior Escoffier Society and the Hospitality Club (which I encourage everyone to join ) the Student Association is here to provide for you, come out and talk to myself or the other Student Leader, Michelle Charness, and see what we can do for you.

Speaking of Student Leaders for the Student Association, the Hospitality division is allocated three positions but currently only two are filled, so if your energetic and looking for a fun and rewarding experience come out to the SA office and talk to Michelle or myself about getting involved. Elections will be held at the end of September. First year students don't have to be shy, you have as much right and opportunity as the second or third year students, just speak to any SA rep. during Orientation or the following weeks. Speaking of Orientation watch for the posters and get involved, this is how you make life long friends.

Dear friends,

I welcome you all to George Brown College (GBC). Selecting GBC, perhaps, was the second best decision that you have made. The first, undoubtedly is choosing to become a "student" again! Well here you are. In the very difficult status that Ontario is facing today - both politically and economically - and its compact on our lives, going back to school is the best decision to make.

The Student Association (SA) is here to help you. From politics to entertainment & from variety of services to academic matters, we the SA, are here to help, serve and guide you with the best of our ability. After completing two years in the Community Worker Program, I have decided to enter in to the Human Services Counselor Program. I am sure that it will be a positive and challenging year and I wish you happiness and success.

My name is John H. Gates and I am a Student Leader of the Student Association of George Brown College St. James Campus. I am presently in the Property Management Course and in my second year at George Brown. I would like to personally Welcome all the new first year students to George Brown and extend my hand in friendship.

I would also like to say that if you have any problems whether big or small please stop in at the Student Association Office any time during office hours and someone will be there to help you. If you wish to speak to me personally, just leave a message and I will contact you as soon as possible. Once again Welcome to George Brown and your future.

Tracey Elkind
Student
Leader
St. James
Campus

Hello, Buenos dias, Ohayoo gozimasu and welcome to George Brown, this is the kind of interesting summer I have had, celebrating different cultures, studying spanish and hosting a foreign student from Japan.

The student leaders from all four campuses have been working hard getting ready to service you fully by September, we had had dreams of doing so from the new Student Centre but "due to construction" that looks more promising in November when are new location will be the bookstore area.

So what have we been doing all summer you ask? Well many of us have been in the office working hard with the student association staff, some of us attended conference's and student leader workshops.

Attendance at conference's, allows us to network with other student leaders and student councils from across the province, this is a great way to find out more about Student Life not only from the George Brown perspective, but in general. Although George Brown does share a lot of commonalities with other colleges, its diverse student population really represents the city of Toronto, for that reason inclusion will be our greatest challenge as a student association this year.

One of the questions always being asked is how does the SA represent all students from George Brown? We can do this by looking at the needs, hopefully you will notice a change in the activities that are being offered this year, and there is a Mature Student Club being organized. The SA group itself has had two team building retreats one during April at Kempenfelt and one in July, camping!!!! This I must admit (camping) was not on any to-do list for my summer 1995 plans, but I have come away with the enthusiasm to plan a trek across the US next summer! What did we learn about ourselves through these retreats? We care about the students at George Brown. Are we over achievers? Probably, certainly committed and that's what makes it fun.

Some of the things I plan to be involved with this year are student discounted TTC fares, a Food Bank, a Woman's Resource Centre at St. James, a Crosswalk between St. James and Hospitality buildings, and an improved health package. I am currently involved with Mature Students, the Advisory Committee on Equity, ACE and the OCCSPA/APECCO delegate (updates will follow in future issues of Dialog).

The bottom line is, we as your student leaders want to make changes and yes we are accountable to you, you voted us in to work for you, all of you. Visit us in the student leader room, or as it has affectionately been called "the penthouse" room -113 or phone me at 867-2900 ext 4011. I look forward to meeting you during orientation and throughout the coming school year.

Greetings fellow students: My name is 'Beverley Thomson', I am one of your new student leaders. I am a third semester Marketing Student here at GBC. I have been working hard all summer preparing myself for this new role. I have attended conferences and attended training sessions, so that I might better represent you in any way possible. You might remember me from last year, bringing in all the speakers and running around posting events throughout the school once a month. Well, guess what? I'll be here again this year. I am the VP of Public Relations for the AMA', (American Marketing Association, Canadian Chapter of George Brown) and I will be in charge of bringing in the speakers once again. If you have any preference, or know of someone you think would make a great speaker, please leave me a message on my voice mailbox here at the school, #4034. You will see ads posted this year once again, but this time by our new VP of Advertising Junior Dawkins. If you need any help or answers, please don't hesitate to stop me in the halls. If I don't know the answer, I will find out who does. Also join my volunteer list. Stay Active, Get Involved!

Here To Serve You

This year's group of Student Leaders is prepared to assist you in any way they can by answering questions, helping you with complaints and appeals processes, programming entertainment and guest speakers, and representing your views within and outside of the college to a variety of committees and political parties responsible for education. Your Student Leaders are available through your campus SA office, or through Voice Mail by dialing (416) 867-2900, pressing your "*" key, then entering the VM number and leaving your message.

OVERCOMING SHYNESS - WHERE DO I BEGIN???

by Miriam Baichman,
Counselor, Student Affairs,
St. James Campus

"In a nutshell, there is only one person who can cure shyness, and that's the individual him/herself - by taking the risk of approaching other people" writes Michel Girodo, psychologist and author of the book, Shy? You Don't Have To Be.

According to Girodo, who himself was painfully shy as a youth, half the people in the world are shy at any given time. Shyness is a universal experience that just about everyone has experienced at some time in his/her life. Girodo stresses that prolonged shyness "produces social isolation and loneliness along with feelings of boredom, aimlessness and social exclusion". Ultimately it can lead to feelings of depression and in the extreme, suicide.

Learning to manage shyness does not happen overnight. It is a slow process which must be developed step by step. Girodo suggests that the shy person begin with some form of self-assessment. It is helpful to have a realistic picture of what s/he has to offer in a social situation and how s/he would like to be. Once this information has been established, then it's a matter of taking the first step. It could be something that's pretty safe, such as deciding to say "Good Morning" to the first person you encounter each day.

Here are a number of exercises that you can try which might help you become more comfortable interacting with others. Choose several of these to accomplish in the next week. Start with the easiest and progress to those that are more difficult for you. Record your reactions to each of these exercises as well as the reactions you've elicited.

1. Introduce yourself to a new person in your office building, the grocery store or in a class.
2. Invite someone you are acquainted with, who is going your way, to walk with you.
3. Converse with the gas station attendant as s/he is filling the gas tank.

4. Notice someone who needs assistance in your class or office and offer to help.

5. Throw a small party (three to five people). Invite at least someone you don't know very well.

6. Stand in a line at a grocery store, bank or movie. Strike up a conversation about the line with whoever is near you.

Try some of these activities. It may be difficult at first, but as you keep extending yourself and experiencing some successes, it WILL get easier.

NOTHING VENTURED,
NOTHING GAINED!

If you are interested in participating in an Overcoming Shyness/Gaining Confidence Workshop please contact your Counselling office and sign up.

Success

"We are what we repeatedly do. Excellence, then is not an act but a habit." Aristotle

Welcome to your challenge. Whether you are just beginning your program or are returning, we are all starting fresh on September 5th. It's an opportunity to begin new "habits", to ensure that all the elements are in place for you to be successful.

To ensure you have the best possible experience, you may want to ask yourself some questions.

1. Do I have my finances straightened out? - If you are worrying about how to pay the rent or eat, you will not have the time and energy necessary for your studies.
2. If needed, are my day care arrangements finalized and satisfactory?

3. Do I have a support system in place? You are bound to face unforeseen issues, you may experience second thoughts about your choice to return to school. To whom will you turn for support and encouragement?

4. What do I want from my time at college? - If you just come to classes and leave, you will be losing an opportunity to benefit from the wealth of resources the college offers outside the classroom. There are fellow students; faculty and staff with whom you might serve on a committee; and employers who are involved in college projects and advisory committees.

Your first steps toward excellence include acquiring all the necessary information, making choices, being in control of your college career, preparing for the possible set backs, and making time to enjoy your college experience.

New Speaker Series for 95-96

The Junior Escoffier Society will host The Womens Culinary Network Speaker Series starting on September 13, 1995. This speaker series will bring nine talented food industry professionals to the Hospitality Centre to share their knowledge and expertise with all students, faculty and staff members. Each presentation given by a member of the Womens Culinary Network, has been scheduled for the second Wednesday of each month in the Auditorium (Room 112) between 12:00 and 12:50 pm.

The first speaker, Nettie Cronish will demonstrate Vegetarian Maincourses for The 90's and Beyond. A chef, caterer, writer and natural foods consultant Nettie is well-qualified to speak on this topic which you won't find in the classic curriculum at George Brown. Ms.

Cronish has been a vegetarian for 21 years. During this time, her list of professional accomplishments within the food industry has become long and varied. She owned a 30-seat cafe and take-out within a natural food store for two years; operated for three years her own frozen dinner company which included eight trees sold in 80 health food stores; worked as the vegetarian demo chef at The King Ranch Health Spa; spent eight years teaching cooking at the Big Carrot and through the Skills Exchange; ran a catering company for eight years; and, has been involved in recipe testing and development of low-fat recipes for one year. Her latest accomplishment is her commitment to write a vegetarian cookbook for Fall 96 publication.

Other speakers will include: Chefs Lili Sullivan and Christine Chamberlain, Melva Buell entrepreneur Therese Taylor of Dan-T's Foods, Dietitian Marsha Rosen, Chateleine's Assistant Food Editor, Marilyn Crowley; and meat and seafood supplier, Francesca Babister.

Their topics will include: Being A Chef (Oct.) Low-Fat Baking (Nov.); Food Styling (Dec.) Meat Purchasing (Jan.) Kitchen Leadership (Feb.) Chef Dietitian Partnership (March) Study of Dan-T Foods (April) Food writing, Recipe Testing & Development (May)

Free tickets for the events may be obtained at The Junior Escoffier Office (Room 254) or by calling 867-2244.

The Womens Culinary Network was created as a medium for communication, building upon the accumulated knowledge and skills of its members. The organization offers an annual scholarship to a culinary student at GBC.

Do it as soon as possible, you won't regret it.

4. The first day of class you will be told "the truth" about the Hospitality Industry. The hours are long, the work is tough and you have to be crazy to choose this career. Don't be discouraged by what you hear, if you really want this, stick to it and it will get easier.

5. Toronto has an unlimited number of restaurants, trade shows and restaurant supply stores. St. Lawrence Market is only a five minute walk from campus. Take the time to experiment with different food, drinks, and foodservice styles. You can even make plans to do it as a group.

6. If money is tight, which it usually is, do some shopping at school. You can buy meat, baked goods and of course the wonderful things you make in class, all at a resonable price.

Womens Culinary Network Meeting

Students interested in becoming members of The Womens Culinary Network, an organization of women in The Toronto food industry, can write:

The Womens Culinary Network
11 Dunlop Road
Toronto, Ontario
M4V 2W4
or call Nettie Cronish at (416)483-7114 or Marilyn Crowley at (416)596-5437. Annual membership dues are $25, this fee includes a newsletter and directory listing. The first meeting for the 95/96 year will be held on September 12th at the Art Gallery of Ontario Members Lounge, 317 Dundas Street West (two blocks west of University Avenue, St. Patrick Subway). Author Naomi Duguid will be the guest speaker. Her book, Flatbreads & Flavours, was published in the Spring of this year. She will talk about travel and food writing. Registration will begin at 6:30pm. The cost for this evening of exotic travel, food, networking and news is $20 per person and includes appetizers, coffee, tea and a cash bar.

So, you're new around here...

by Denise Coward

Welcome to the George Brown College Hospitality Centre. If you are not familiar with the Hospitality Program, you may have a lot of questions about your upcoming year.

I am about to begin my third year at the Hospitality Centre and over the past two years I have been involved in many aspects of Student Life. With the help of some of my fellow Culinary graduates, I have put together some helpful hints for new students. The following information may differ slightly from what you find in the Student Handbook.

1. During registration you will be given a lot of advice and information. Do not feel like you have to purchase your knives, uniforms, and books on the first day of registration. Take your time and select things that are best for you, and your budget. Many things are sold in packages so make sure you need everything in the package before you buy it, you may find it better to buy things separately. You may also benefit from purchasing things outside the bookstore.

2. Don't bother waiting in line for your Student ID unless you need it right away. It is better to wait until the crowd thins out later in the week.

3. Get involved with the Junior Escoffier Society and The Hospitality Club. Visit Room 254 and ask questions about industry events, guest speakers, and upcoming meetings. It really helps to get to know people in the industry. You can have fun and learn something at the same time.

7. If you think battling traffic is tough, wait until you try fighting for pots and pans at 7:30 a.m. Resources are limited so it is best to get to Lab early. Try to plan ahead and if possible find a partner you can get along with first thing in the morning.

8. Many hours will be spent pulling your hair out over the Marketing Project. If you get to know people in your class early, you can choose a group that can work together. If everyone pulls their weight you may get through the project without any major disasters.

9. Find out when student awards and scholarships are available. You may think you don't have a chance of winning but fill out an application anyway. The awards are judged on many factors, your grades are only a fraction of the things considered.

10. Attend events and visit the student facilities across the street at the St James Campus. The Student Association plans events throughout the year and they have a Hospitality representative in our building, Room 254, that can keep you informed. There are no photocopiers for student use at hospitality, you have to go across the street to the SA office.

11. If you are having problems with a subject, like accounting, get help as soon as possible. You can get a peer tutor for free if you contact the Counselling office across the street. You have to complete certain courses before you can take others, so if you don't pass a course it may affect your whole schedule.

12. Buy a really great pair of work shoes. Ask second-year students for suggestions.

These are just a few of the things we thought may be useful to you as you begin your year at GBC. Overall most of us feel we had a good experience and the program here provided us with a good base of knowledge and skills. You have to remember though it is only a base, there is much more to learn when you enter the industry. You have to be open to new ideas and methods in order to improve your skills. You should adapt to each situation, learn what you can and try to have fun. If you plan a career in this demanding industry, you have to keep your sense of humour. Good Luck, Hope you have a great year!

BUS SERVICE

This year the SA will assist students in getting to the other campuses. The Photo I. D. and Financial Assistance are both at St. James. If students and staff wish to visit other campuses they can catch a bus at a convenient location for free. Thanks to Transportation, the SA has been able to book the bus for the first week of school.

The Bus will leave from and arrive at the following locations:

Casa Loma main entrance
160 Kendal
Nightingale main entrance
Murray St.
St. James side entrance
Fredrick St.

The bus will be accompanied by a staff volunteer, whenever possible.

Here is the bus service schedule for the beginning of September:

September 5, 6, and 7
Leaving: Casa Loma 9:00
Leaving: St. James 12:00

Calling All Students HELP WANTED

SA JOBS

The Studentt Association has some part-time jobs available to help supplement your income throughout the year. If you have applied for OSAP (who hasn't) and have 10-15 hours a week to spare, check out the jobs listed below and see if any catch your eye..

CAMP ZU NEEDS KEEPERs!

George Brown has its own pub and it needs great staff to make sure that it is the best college pub. If you have experience in working in a pub or bar, this job could be for you. SIP training is provided. Pub positions report to the Pub Manager.

OFFICE HELP NEEDED

There is much work to be done in our office, and positions are available to give our staff a helping hand.. If you would like to gain great experience, the this could be for you. For Office positions please report to the Executive Director.

RETAIL STAFF WANTED

The SA runs two retail stores, one at Casa Loma and one at St. James. Staff is needed to help operate the stores and work on promoting their products. If interested, report to the Retail Manager.

YEARBOOK EDITOR NEEDED

Each year the SA produces a yearbook for graduating students. If you have the skills to manage this project and would like to gain some valuable experience in Graphic Design, then this job could be for you.

Potential Yearbook editors can report to the Activities Coordinator.

VOLUNTEERS

Got Some Free Time? Want to help out?

The Student Association is a fairly large organization. As such, it needs many people to make it run efficiently and provide the best services possible to students. To do this we need you. If you have some free time and would like to volunteer come by the SA office.

Help capture the year's memories!

Each year the SA produces a yearbook that is given out at graduation. It is a great way to remember all the fun times and great people you met during your stay at GBC. Take the opportunity to develop your production skills and help put this year's book together.
